The Librarian Is In

by Sarah_Jane

With the crisp and slightly chilly weather, I feel like a character out of a Mark Twain novel heading outdoors with a honeysuckle apple in one hand and a book in another while situating myself up against a tree. Actually let's be honest, the tree behind my apartment is home to the largest beehive I've ever seen and even though my irrational fear of bees is just that, I'm pretty much day dreaming of bare feet, apples and reading under a big oak tree. I'm most likely near the pool on a lounge chair reminiscing over the good ol' college days in Indiana, where wearing flannels and moccasins were a necessity mid October. And since the season of changing leaves and reading are

Volunteer Opportunities

If you think helping the Friends is all about shelving books, think again. Here are some of the many ways you can help us:

- Staff the Used Bookstore during the summer months (shelving books and helping customers).
- Be a docent at one of the homes on the House and Garden tour.
- Assume project manager leadership of one of our fundraising projects.
- If you have computer skills, help with newsletter layout, electronic records documentation, or the membership database.
- If you have writing skills, help writing newsletter articles.
- Staff our booth at the annual Craft Fair, Marathon Weekend or other events.
- Help with the semi-annual newsletter mailings.
- If you have expertise in specific publications, such as children’s books, help us review incoming donations and freshen our collections.
- If you have artistic flair, consider painting some Adirondack chairs or a table as a raffle prize.
- If you have a strong back, help us move and store cartons of incoming donated books.
- Help staff one of the many programs held by the Library, such as winter movie nights, reading hours for kids, or coaching a team for the Battle of the Books.
- If you have a photographer’s eye (or just a digital camera!), document our events in pictures.

Welcome to Friends of the Chandler Public Library!

Committed, caring, community-minded...

Friends of the Chandler Public Library is an organization of dedicated library advocates who cooperatively support and sponsor many of the library’s programs, services and events. They help increase the library’s visibility and viability with public awareness and with contributions from special events, book sales, membership recruitment and other fundraising activities.

Fall Bargain Book Sale: Friday, August 19 - Sunday, August 21
Taking place at all four library locations during regular business hours, books will be discounted 25% off their regular prices. Friends Members Preview Sale will take place on Thursday, August 18 where they can enjoy the reduced sale pricing and their additional 25% off the total.

Book sale customers can get the most from the sale and receive the best value by becoming members of the Friends of the Chandler Public Library. Memberships provide an additional 25% off used book purchases all year long.

Meet a Friend of the Florida Public Library ~ Celeste McAteer

I have been a member of the Friends of the FPL since 1995.

I am proud that my oldest son James made picnic tables, benches, planters, garbage bins and cleaned up the back area for the library with the help of our family and the Boy Scouts. This project helped him earn the rank of Eagle Scout. I have enjoyed helping move books for the book sale too.

As a Friend, I presented a program on health and wellness for adults.

My favorite thing about the Florida Public Library is the great staff that works there. They are always helpful and able to get me the books I request, even from other libraries. One book came from as far away as Texas! I loved the summer reading programs my kids were involved in when they were younger.

Some of my favorite items that I borrow from FPL are books on natural healing, finances, raising children and wellness.

What others should know about FPL: It is a great resource loaded with educational and self-help information as well as a variety of interesting programs for anyone at any age.

When I'm not at the library, I like to read, spend time with my family, work on home improvement projects, hike, garden and go to any beach, anywhere.

Thank you, Celeste, for being a Friend of the Florida Public Library!
Our board is a diverse group of people who all want to support the Library’s plans, progress, decisions, and future needs.

subwaybookreview David: “I’m really getting into it. The story is about two families of musicians and their struggles from the Chinese Cultural Revolution through the present. It’s set in a background which is totally different from mine. But there’s a humanity in there that I can understand - the sense of loss, the disconnect from a place, the way powerful government can impact humanity and the strong desire to tell stories. As a reader you have empathy with that. I tend to go to a bookshop and buy both, a few novels by authors I’m familiar with, and something I don’t know to expand my reading.”

Take the slow road
Hands down, one of the things I most value is all the time and effort Polly puts into pulling together all the resources and ideas for each tool! Often, they are all things I’ve wanted to look into more at some point but, never seem to have the time to do the research on it. Thanks to Polly, I can focus on the exploration and not the hunt and gather.

Welcome to Friends of the Knox County Public Library!

Give Every Child a New Book for the Holidays

Join this year’s Empty Stocking Fund Children’s Book Drive and help us collect enough books to ensure that every child opens a new book this holiday season!

Drop off new or like-new books at any Knox County Public Library branch or at Union Ave Books.

We especially need board books for infants and toddlers and books for middle and high schoolers.

The holiday book drive extends through Wednesday, November 30. To learn more about how you can give the gift of reading, please visit our special Children’s Book Drive page.

"Fifteen minutes will last a lifetime. When you read to your child from the very beginning you're giving them creativity, learning skills and educational development. But, in my mind, the most important thing of all that you're giving your child when you read to him, or her, for fifteen minutes every day... is YOU."
Thanks Lisa!
